Pets Alive provides emergency shelter for dogs rescued from Greene County puppy mill.

Bloomington, Indiana - Pets Alive recently accepted a request by the Humane Society of the United States, working with The Office of the Indiana Attorney General to provide emergency shelter and treatment for 122 rescued puppies and dogs after the December 1 raid of a rural Greene County puppy mill by.

Pets Alive staff was also onsite at the puppy mill during the rescue helping remove dogs from the facility and bringing them to the Pets Alive clinic in Bloomington. Once there, the rescued dogs received emergency medical treatment to help mitigate the damage caused by the terrible conditions inside the puppy mill facility.

Thanks to the concerted effort of the organizations involved, all 122 dogs survived and will be available for adoption from the following locations:

- Bloomington Animal Care & Control - Bloomington, Indiana
- Brown County Humane Society - Nashville, Indiana
- Pet Refuge - Mishawaka, Indiana
- Floyd County Animal Shelter - New Albany, Indiana

Pets Alive is a nonprofit veterinary clinic offering low-fee spay/neuter services and vaccinations. The actual full cost of every Pets Alive surgery is subsidized by donor contributions in order to keep that fee as low as possible. In addition to serving the general public, Pets Alive works with shelters and animal welfare groups in 19 counties throughout the state, transporting cats and dogs to its clinic to provide spay/neutering surgeries for those in need of assistance.

In addition to providing emergency housing and care in situations similar to this one,

Additional information about the Greene County rescue, including videos and other press coverage, is available at our website, petsaliveindiana.org. Pets Alive is eager to speak about this rescue and its ongoing mission to end cruelty towards cats and dogs. We are available for interviews and speaking to groups, and welcome the press to visit our facility.
